

IDEOLOGY IN PARADISE

The artworks featured in this gallery are available for sale

Hiroshi Watanabe has been touched by our mission to help improve the lives of Cambodian children and has been a longtime generous supporter. The photographs exhibited are published exclusively for Friends Without A Border and half of all proceeds directly benefit Angkor Hospital for Children.

Hiroshi Watanabe

"Ideology in Paradise" has received First Prize of Center's (formerly known as Santa Fe Center for Photography) 2008 Project Competition.

Photographs by Hiroshi Watanabe exhibit first time at The Center for Friends Without A Border, Siem Reap, Cambodia. His colorful photographs from North Korea tell an unbiased story of culture and every day life. The artist made the trip to investigate the many stories he had heard of people starving and dying in the streets; of police brutality; and of the lack of outside information and education.

Seeking to capture traditions, people, and locales of personal interest, Watanabe immerses himself in study before departure but makes a concerted effort to travel without preconceived ideas. His vision of the unity of the world is the thread that connects his work.

The artist's work has been widely exhibited in galleries across the United States and Japan.

The Friends Center locates in Angkor Hospital for Children, Acha Mean Street (near to the Central Market), Siem Reap, Cambodia. Tel: (855) 63 963 409 Ext: 7015
